

STYLI

Fowler

Fowler is pleased to introduce a range of high performance styli for CMM touch trigger probes.

Fowler styli have excellent thermal and environmental stability, with extremely high resistance to impact and fracture.

All probes are fitted with M2 threads, and a variety of adaptors are available for conversion to M3 and M4 sizes, allowing Fowler styli to be used on other manufacturer's probing systems.

- Manufactured in the USA to our exacting specifications.
- Constructed from hardened stainless steel.
- Precision ruby ball tips, maximum stiffness is assured. The finest quality industrial rubies are used for maximum system integrity.
